Video Production @ Polyplexus Present

I currently am working as an editor and producer for a video series for Polyplexus, a DARPA social media platform connecting scientists and researchers with each other and funding opportunities.

Freelance Writing, Present

I write about food, fashion, and culture for Garage, Bon Appetit, BOMB and Complex on a freelance basis.

Video Production, Writer @ VFILES, 2015-Present

I researched, wrote and edited the popular VFILES Data videos, a webseries satirizing the fashion industry through the lens of a cyborgic being. The videos garnered 50K-130K on average. I continue to produce video for them on a freelance basis.

Production Assistant @ Saturday Night Live, November 2017-Present

In my current role, I aide in the creation of pretaped segments for Saturday Night Live. My primary responsibility is to assist the production department on the show's set, and help the director.

Production Assistant @ Turquoise Films, June-October 2017

I researched archival material, touched up film using photoshop and after effects, and performed organizational and administrative tasks for the director of PBS documentary GI JEWS during post-production and through the film's completion.

Editorial Intern, Writer @ Blackbook Magazine, Summer 2014

I wrote multiple humorous editorial posts daily about fashion, film, and art. I created a number of online quizzes about literature and scheduled the content of other contributors.

Editorial Intern @ Rolling Stone Magazine, Summer 2013

I helped to copy edit the magazine and wrote a piece on comedy that was published online. I researched articles for staff writers.
